Dear Colleagues:

I am very pleased to say that the addition of the Exilis device to my practice has been a great success. I purchased the Exilis 4 months ago to expand the non-invasive aesthetic component of my plastic surgical practice and it has surpassed my expectations. Mona Greene and her staff are wonderful to work with and are always available for training and questions.

We previously owned a radiofrequency device for skin tightening that was uncomfortable for the patients and required premedication. The Exilis procedures are performed comfortably by my RN staff without the need for medication and, therefore, my presence is not necessary. The Exilis not only addresses skin tightening, but body contouring, as well.

Most important, the patients are happy with the results and are booking other areas of treatment. They love that there is no downtime and that they can return to work, home, or exercise immediately after each procedure.

My present RN staff is presently scheduling 3 months ahead, and we have not had to market the Exilis. Patients are hearing about the technique through our office, through other patients and through the media. I will be adding additional staff hours to accommodate the flow of patients requesting Exilis.

Sincerely,

Lori G. Polacek MD
